The schedule is now being made up, and it will be so arranged that the teams will play three games with each other. With this aumber of games, it will be necessary to play two games each day, and the ability of each cub can be more thoroughly tested. This will extend the championship scason into September, and it may be necessary that during vacation games will be played in the morning, in order to complete the schedule.

There will be no favoritism shown in giving dates, it being the intention of those engaged on the work of schedulemaking to get it up blindly, so far as the clubs and holidays are concerned. A scheme has been employed in the selection of clubs for the opening games, and on that basis the entire schedule will be built.

COMMENDING THE ORGANIZATION.

Much concern is felt for the boys by their parents and older members of their families. They are all more or less interested in the development of youthful athletes, and The Times has received much encouragement for the work it has undertaken. Communications have been received commending the action of this journal for inaugurating The Times Juveulle League of Basebail Clubs, and the president and board of directors are praised for their uniform fairness in excluding all clubs, the ages of members of which are beyond the limit.

The board has the good wishes of many friends of the game for a successful season, in the work of schooling the boys to observe strict discipline and orderly conduct on the field. In order to attain the object sought, the boys must pay strict attention to business and strive at all times to merit the good with, as well as patronage, of parents and friends.

Fitzsimmons confidently expects to make more money in England than he has in this country. Fitz has been repeatedly disappointed in his erforts to do a hig business on the road. He has been well managed, but Sullivan and Corbett have been the star density of the star density and he star drawing cards.

Sam Kelly and Billy Murphy, of Australia, have been engaged to box twenty rounds at the Eureka Athletic Club on June 15. The contest should be a lively one. The cry is made that he spikes the ball, and twenty times in a game he is called on to give the ball tothe umpire for inspection. It is examined and invariably found inscrintched, to the sur-prise of the annoyed ball players and the amusement of the crowd.

"Ballplayer McGraw's condition is improving" reports Dr. Hugh Hagan today. He adds: "McGraw has been free from fever five days. His pulse is good, and his general condition remarkable. He enjoys his nourishment and is sleeping well. From present conditions, I would state that further relapses need not be looked for."

Tacks Parrott created much amusement Monday as he struggled up to the plate with a bat which looked like a telegraph pole, but he nearly broke McMahon's heart by making a bome-run bit in center field. Tacks also made two singles with this same stick and President Von der Abe felt so

TOPICS OF THE TURF. John J. McCafferty is around again, looking as natural as ever. He says the horse Kennel is getting over his trouble, too.

Mike J. Daly has filed an application for a license with the Jockey Club, and the chances are he will get it. Though Daly belongs to the cute division and is fond of playing tricks with his horses, his ruling off was an injustice. It doesn't pay to be cute unless one's name is McCafferty.

Willie Sims is worth more to Mr. Dwyer than all the horses in his stable. Three races he has now wen by short heads, and no doubt the loss of them woold have made a difference of $50,000 or more to Mr. D wyer. This plainly demonstrates the value of the services of a tip-top lockey.

The pocket edition of Form is out. As usual, it is right up to the standard, and so useful that no regular race-goer can afford to be without it.

The California yearlings were not in great deniand in New York the other day. Prices ruled low, and many were passed without a bid. A midget of a filly was brought into the ring, and the auctioneer asked for a bid.
"Twenty-five dollars," said Hughey Mc-

Carren. "Excuse me," said the auctioneer, "but I have just been turned out of the doctor's hands after a course of treatment for heart disease Phase be careful."
"That's all right," retorted Hughey quickly. "I wanted a watch charm, and was willing to pay that funch for it." A roar of laughter followed this sally, and the tiny filly was quickly led out.

The Brown-Fitzgerald starting machine was used Thursday at Morris Park in the four-horse race. The barrier is stretched 144 feet. This is about as far as has been tried so far. Of course, the start was good.

Bald is rapidly attaining the form he had last year with regard to speed. His work at the Louisville track has been most systematic, and he has entered into it with a determination to place himself in the lead of all the others this year, as he did during the last racing season. His training is of such a character as to bring his good points out to a spectator, and when he sprints it is worth a trip to the track to witness his work. Bald is rapidly attaining the form be had

The bicycle has been boomed from almost every point of view, but the latest is the testimony of a champagne drummer that it is among the chiefest promoters of temperance, says the Boston Globe.
